

4.3.5

We consider the locus of points K such that $d(K, AC') + d(K, BC) = d(K, AB)$ (Here we have negative distances, and the distance is positive if the point lies on the same side of P with respect to the line in the above figure.). It is a line, and it passes through D, E . So it passes through P . So $a + b = c$.